

Dr Richard Pender

Richard Pender is a Clinical Psychologist in the NHS, and a clinical fellow and autism researcher at UCL. Much of his clinical and research work is focused on improving mental health services for autistic people. He is particularly interested in co-producing research and mental health services with autistic experts with lived experience and adapting psychological therapies to work better for autistic clients.